After spending many years talking to thousands of students who are struggling to know what their next steps are - we have come to realize that business education, can still be improved. Despite a sharp increase in business school entries and a plethora of programs, the employment rates of graduates remain too low. In addition, graduates capacity to thrive professionally and emotionally in an ever-changing international employment market is diminishing

Was this the dream life students aimed for when they started their studies?

What is wrong? Are we sufficiently focused on developing the human capital of our students? Do we focus too much on disseminating knowledge yet omitting soft skills that make a difference in the business world today? Do we teach enough ethics and values? Do we create future leaders that stand up for what is right, and that will make a positive impact on all aspects of society?

To make a difference, we created AIB, an International Management & Business School.

At the AIB®, we coach students by teaching skills, not lessons, and we train for professions, not just for diplomas. In small classes, limited, we produce real businesses, real business people, with real skills mentored by real professionals. We aim to grow human capital by delivering exceptional knowledge, building soft and hard skills, and providing real work experience! We create global leaders/citizens that can make a difference and thrive in a globalized world and knowledge-based economy.

Steve Thomsen

Co- Director

Global World, Global Career, Global Degree

In a globalized and knowledge-based economy, intercultural competence is a key to a successful international career. To grow our students' capacity to succeed within this intercultural world, we have developed bachelor and master degree programmes that meet the challenges and opportunities of this world.

Our courses are built on verified business and management practices that come from various fields such as management, social sciences, and neuroscience; and are delivered by experienced international professionals and academics.

To prepare students for the volatile, uncertain, complex, and unpredictable world we live in - we decided to go beyond theory. Our aim is to build transferable skills that grow intercultural competence, resilience, agility, leadership and interpersonal competencies.

Interested in pursuing an international career?

Welcome to 'AIB'. We are here to prepare you for the journey.

International Career

The English language is a must in the 21st century, that is why 100% of our courses are taught in the English language. If you feel that your English is not good enough to begin your study with our academy, do not worry, we have prepared special classes to bring your English skills up to speed!

Our Values & culture

Entrepreneurship Spirit

Community

Life is most fulfilling and meaningful when lived with and for others. Positive, encouraging, and inspiring study environment where students support and challenge each other is a must. We care about our students; their personal and collective well-being is at the heart of what we do.

Professionalism

We expect excellence in effort. Though we understand that perfection does not exist, we strive for it. Being trustworthy, reliable, and always learning is part of our DNA. We rejoice when we experience small and big wins - and we learn from failures.

Inclusivity

Social justice and equal treatment matter to us, and this is why we built a unique recruitment process and study syllabus. We hire for attitude and potential, not for academic skills only + our students have an opportunity to raise funds during their study, thus being able to finance otherwise expensive tuition.

Leadership

We see issues that our civilization faces, and we care. We do our best to create a future generation of leaders guided by ethics and driven by values - leaders that stand up for what is right, making a positive impact on all aspects of society.

Global Mindset

We see ourselves as global citizens. Mastering the English language, plus learning another global language, developing intercultural competence, opportunity to do international internship, and being taught by international professionals is how we prepare our students for the opportunities of tomorrow.

Thriving

Happiness, health, and progress of our students are imperative to us. We desire that they become truly successful. Therefore, we teach them emotional intelligence and resilience skills - key variables that enable us to thrive in a ever changing and challenging world.

Why should you choose AIB?

Practical, Professional and Friendly!

One of the things that I particularly liked about AIB in Lyon is the way they care about their students. The care I got as an international student was really valuable. A small ratio of students to instructors really helped during the learning process. If I had to describe the AIB in three words, I would say practical, professional, and friendly!"

"What I particularly appreciated at AIB is the enthusiasm that teachers put into their teaching. Also, teachers give their best to pass on their knowledge, but they go beyond just teaching skills too, they encourage us and help us in the personal development dimension. They help us to improve as a person and to develop non-academic skills. If I had to describe the AIB in 3 words, I would say rigor, multicultural, and simply excellent!"
